

Internet-based Business Early Warning System for management of small and medium-sized enterprises, now available at a yearly fee

abenetis offers an internet-based Business Early Warning System at a yearly fee. This offer is especially designed to the needs of small and mid-sized businesses.

22.July 2004

abenetis developed the Internet based Early Warning System ERS - Early-Recognition-System, which works with only 30 business ratios. Due to the usage of temporally depending business ratios, it will early show trends of business development.

The business ratios are checked whether their values are within a certain, individually adjustable range. In case of divergences, recommendations are given how the possible coming bottlenecks could be removed. A diagram enables to keep the overview and to perceive the actual situation fast.

The ERS, a high performance and reliable system, terminates the flood of financial statements and offers the following advantages to you:

- Controlled business development
- Early recognition of positive and/or negative trends
- Saves time, work and costs
- Giving fingertip access to business consultation via our Online-Support-System
- Fast access to relevant business data
- Avoidance of information flooding
- Recognize and improve advantages and potentials of your business
- Recommendations for actions to improve business development are given
- Determine where to use your business resources effectively
- Gain a quick overview about your business situation by viewing only one analysis page
- Analysis contains explanations where to find and how to calculate the used business ratios
- Small number of business ratios
- Receive information when additional evaluations are needed
- With regular application of the program, endangerments are promptly shown and recommendations for solutions are offered
- In order to being able to use the ERS, no complete financial data have to be revealed, only partial information from various areas of your business will be used. The program is immediately available from every Computer with Internet connection, all transmissions are SSL-encoded for your security.
- The ERS from abenetis helps to recognize serious problems with banks and tax office early, because if it has come to payment difficulties, banks fast decide to use drastic measures (also with long business relation) which must not be at the purposes of the enterpriser. Especially small enterprises are concerned, because these are often dependent on one bank.

abenetis now offers a free of charge Online-Demo-Version of the ERS for registrated Users. The Demo-Version provides the ability to add 4 reporting periods and the analysis of these periods. Furthermore the recommendation for actions/measures has been limited. Registration at abenetis is free of charge and without obligations. To register as user, only a username (could be fictional), an email-address and a password is needed.

The abenetis ERS is available at an annual price of 150.00 EUR (or USD 180.00, GBP 100.00) incl. german value added tax. The more users decide to use the abenetis ERS, the faster abenetis will lower the price of this service.

More details about the ERS subscription could be found on the Internet page at <http://www.abenetis.com> under the menu item "Products/Services".

abenetis offers services, information, tools and assistance for small and mid sized businesses, especially about bottleneck-oriented business management, controlling and early warning systems.
