

Internet-based Knowledge-Management Solution for small and medium-sized enterprises abenetis offers an internet-based Knowledge-Management System. The Knowledge-Management System is especially designed to the needs of small and mid-sized businesses.

11. February 2005

abenetis developed an Internet based Knowledge-Management System (Company Handbook), which allows small businesses to keep all working procedures and workplace related knowledge with the company in an easy to use manner.

User of the Company Handbook are able to add new categories and entries, as well as to edit and delete the categories or entries which are no longer needed by the company. Due to the flexibility of the system, every user is able to have a category structure by himself.

The Company Handbook offers the following advantages:

- Working Procedures and workplace related Knowledge stays with the company.
- One place where employees could find workplace related information
 - if employees have to take over other employees work in case of illness or holiday.
- Saves time when new employees are trained.

The abenetis Company Handbook is available at an annual price of 35.00 EUR (or USD 42.00, GBP 23.50) per user plus german value added tax if applicable.
